Street Promotion

San Bernardino, CA-Street Motivation, Inc. has introduced and released its one of a kind magazine for unsigned artists. Street Motivation Magazine is published on a quarterly basis in order to educate the masses about the culture, politics, news, music business and lifestyle of the thriving unsigned artists throughout the U.S.A. This full-sized, quarterly publication will serve both as a way fans can stay connected with their favorite unsigned artists, and as a way for unsigned artists to connect with their fans.

It is very unique that it is the only magazine highlighting unsigned artists that showcases poetry, letters of inspiration, thoughts, comments, and opinions, individually and collectively. Within the next two years, Street Motivation Magazine hopes to expand its distribution globally and offer more original music, Books and DVD's for unsigned artists. During the initial launch in January 2007 the magazine has been viewed by over one Million from state to state.

When asked the question what would make them start a magazine like this, the owners respond intelligently "We hope to bring new and different ideas to the multimedia game as well as enlighten views and perceptions of the forgotten Indie artist, basically we're keeping the unsigned artist and our Indie businesses motivated".
